What kind of ingredients are required for perfume making at Home?

To make perfume at home, you don't need a big lab, just a few basics. Here are the things you need:

Ingredients

- Essential oil or fragrance oil
- Alcohol (perfumer's alcohol or vodka) or carrier oil (jojoba/almond)
- Distilled water
- Fixative (optional: like glycerin for longer lasting)
- Spray or roll-on bottle (preferably dark glass)

Equipment:

- Small funnel
- Measuring spoons/droppers
- Glass mixing jars or bottles

At Craft Tree Academy, we will tell you where to buy quality ingredients, and even how to you can sell your perfume.

How perfumes are structured?

- Top notes - the first impression (citrus, mint, bergamot)
- Middle notes - the heart of the perfume (lavender, rose, cinnamon)
- Base notes - the long-lasting base (vanilla, musk, sandalwood)

A common mixing ratio is:

30% top + 50% middle + 20% base

In our perfume making course, we will teach you how to make your perfume last longer and make it more dense or light according to your needs.

How to Make Perfume at Home Step by Step

Now let's get into the actual process. Here is a basic DIY perfume recipe you can try:

Step-by-Step Guide:

1. Choose your oils - Choose your top, middle and base notes
2. Mix the oils - Add them drop by drop into a glass bottle
3. Add alcohol or carrier oil - alcohol for sprays, carrier oil for roll-ons
4. Add water - a few tablespoons to balance the mixture
5. Let it sit - seal and store for 48 hours to 4 weeks (longer = better blend)
6. Strain and bottle - Pour into a perfume bottle and it's ready to use!

If you want to make perfume properly, this is a course that you should learn.

What kind of mistake you should avoid in making perfume at Home?

Making perfume without guidance can go wrong. Here are some beginner mistakes that you should avoid:

- Using too much of a single note (can affect the blend)
- Not letting your perfume last long enough
- Using inferior oils or synthetic alcohol
- Not using a fixative (makes the perfume fade faster)

We will teach you the right method to make your perfume that will fragrance right and will last longer. Craft Tree Academy teaches you all these tricks.
